Rating Action: Moody's assigns Aa2 to NYC's GO bonds Fiscal 2024 Series D, E & F; outlook stable

21 Mar 2024

New York, March 21, 2024 -- Moody's Ratings ("Moody's") has assigned Aa2 ratings to the City of New York's $1.1 billion General Obligation Bonds, Fiscal 2024 Series D; $163.8 million General Obligation Bonds, Fiscal 2024 Series E; and $15.2 million General Obligation Bonds, Fiscal 2024 Series F. Moody's maintains Aa2 ratings on approximately $40 billion of outstanding general obligation debt, which includes General Obligation Bonds, Fiscal 2006 Series I, Subseries I-4 and General Obligation Bonds, Fiscal 2006 Series I, Subseries I-5, which are being reoffered as fixed rate bonds. Pricing is scheduled for the week of March 25. The outlook is stable.

RATINGS RATIONALE

The Aa2 issuer rating reflects New York City's post-pandemic economic recovery, including record-high private employment, positive trends in assessed property values despite commercial real estate challenges, steady tax revenue growth, and strong tourism metrics. The expanding economy is driven by the city's competitive advantages: a young, highly-skilled labor pool that over time has helped make New York City households wealthier; strong higher education and medical centers that also contribute higher paying jobs; and strong domestic and international transportation links that support New York City's position as a global economic, financial and cultural hub. Very strong institutional strength and financial governance have allowed successful implementation of budget control measures to close budget gaps in the current and succeeding fiscal year primarily caused by the migrant crisis. Projected gaps remain in fiscal years 2026 through 2028 but are manageable in size and based on a restrained revenue forecast. New York City's financing responsibilities are broader than most local governments, since it is a city, five counties and the nation's largest school district and its debt burden is above-average because of this operational scope. Despite those responsibilities, the city's fixed costs for debt service, pensions and retiree healthcare are among the strongest of the nation's largest local governments.

RATING OUTLOOK

The stable outlook reflects the city's continued economic expansion and tax revenue growth, and the expectation that strong financial management will help the City navigate ongoing budget pressures in fiscal years 2026 through 2028 driven by continued but waning costs of the migrant crisis and the end of pandemic-era federal aid. A strong institutional framework, including generally conservative revenue forecasts, frequent multiyear forecasting and multiyear phase-ins of changes in commercial property assessed values, provide the city ample time to make budget adjustments when necessary.

FACTORS THAT COULD LEAD TO AN UPGRADE OF THE RATINGS

- Continued economic recovery that brings tax revenue growth closer to the 5.4% pre-pandemic trend, and ongoing structurally-balanced budgets
- Stronger reserves, including deposits to the Revenue Stabilization Fund
- Reduction of fixed costs ratio closer to Aa median of about 11%

FACTORS THAT COULD LEAD TO A DOWNGRADE OF THE RATINGS

- Additional spending pressure that pushes forecast budget gaps closer to 10% of city funds revenue
- Further declines in Moody's calculated available fund balance, or use of OPEB assets to balance the budget
- Economic events such as sustained declines in equity prices, or trends that create significant structural budget imbalances beyond those caused by the current migrant crisis
- Divergence from well-established fiscal practices and strong budgetary management

LEGAL SECURITY

New York City's general obligation bonds are full faith and credit obligations of the city, secured by a real property tax levied without limitation as to rate or amount. All of the city's property tax is deposited into the general debt service fund, which is administered and maintained by the state comptroller. State law requires that the real property tax - which is used to pay general obligation debt service - be segregated into a general debt service fund held by the state comptroller. The state also statutorily covenants not to impair the rights of city bondholders to be paid when due. Those features do not create a statutory lien on the property tax in favor of general obligation bondholders, but are strengths in the payment mechanism that are not found in most local government general obligation bonds.

USE OF PROCEEDS

Proceeds of the Fiscal 2024 Series D bonds will be used to help finance the city's capital plan. Proceeds of the Fiscal 2024 Series E and Series F bonds will be used to refund outstanding general obligation bonds for savings. The reoffering of the Fiscal 2006 Subseries I-4 and I-5 bonds will convert to fixed rate outstanding variable rate demand bonds and floating rate notes, respectively.

PROFILE

New York City is the largest city in the US by population (8.26 million estimated as of July 2023) and by the size of its economy (real GDP of $1.1 trillion). New York City's GDP is larger than all but four states. The size and scope of the city's operations are broader than most local governments: in addition to the city government, New York City is five counties and the nation's largest public school system, with approximately one million students.
